Dedication

We respectfully dedicate this volume to Saint Cecilia, virgin, martyr, and patroness of music because music holds a deep interest for our class. Throughout our high school years we have actively participated in all musical productions and have done our utmost to promote music in St. Mary's.

"Music the fiercest grief can charm, And Fate's severest rage disarm; Music can soften pain to ease And make despair and madness please: Our joys it can improve, And antedate the bliss above.

Of Orpheus now no more let poets tell;
To bright Cecilia greater power is given—
His numbers raised a shade from Hell,
Hers lifts the soul to Heaven."

"The Lives of the Saints."

& When Irish Eyes Are Smiling

Co-editors Pat Scalet and Margaret Bach —— shown asking our esteemed pastor, Rt. Rev. Monsignor McCullough for these few words of parting advice for the class of '45.

"I am honored to get the privilege to make a few remarks to be inserted in your annual which will contain the cherished reflections gathered from your Alma Mater during the last twelve years.

"I first congratulate you, the class of '45, on your good fortune in receiving a Catholic education from the Sisters of St. Joseph. They took you into their careful hands and brought out bright and clear the image of God that is in your souls, and sanctified your opening intellect and your will, and moulded them to God's service in this world and the next, and fitted them for your arduous part in the battle of life. When you come face to face with the possibility of sin, and when the passions that slumber now shall have awakened and shall hunger for their evil food, you still will be children in heart, because you have been taught in your school days to come to Jesus, Who will take issue with the temptation and give you grace to overcome all your difficulties.

"You are completing your secular education to receive our diploma of graduation at the end of the school year, and you have given sufficient time to qualify yourselves to receive deservingly the secular diploma of advancement.

"And in advice, I ask you to remember that there is one everlasting conflict between a total secular education and a Catholic education. For on the one hand, the Church that sanctifies his childhood, inspires his youth, ennobles his manhood, fills the dim and withered heart of his years with visions of glory shall never fade. And the Church, standing alike beside man's cradle and his grave, raising his thoughts to a higher level, filling his soul with noble aspirations, moulding his conduct by purer standards than any that earth could supply, shall never harmonize with a secular education that divests man of any thoughts, hopes, and concern for the world beyond the grave. This is the everlasting conflict between the world and the Church. And, therefore, the Church will ever teach religion in its schools.

"You have been the recipients of this two-fold education. May you always remember and put into practice the important principles of life that you have learned at St. Mary's."

ROSEMARY DORMAN 1927-1943

I cannot say, and I will not say That she is dead—she is just away! With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand, She has wandered into an unknown land, And left us dreaming how very fair It needs must be, since she lingers there,, And you, O you, who the wildest yearn For the old-time step and the glad return-Think of her faring on, as dear In the love of there as the love of here; Think of her still as the same, I say: She is not dead-she is just away!

We've Seen

Down through the ages there has come out of each century some outstanding characters. The twentieth century has held to this tradition, for it was in this century the years of '41, '42, '43, '44, and half of '45 that many sad Sals and Sams blossomed into blooming womanhood and manhood.

It was a glorious day in September, the year '41 that the aforementioned were christened Freshies. Feeling as old as Methusala, we embarked on our high-school career with little in mind (s) and full of enthusiasm. Keeping on the beam was our only theme as we started out right by electing Helen Postai, a slick Hick, as President; Pat Mc-Cann, a glad lad, as Vice-President; Therese Lero, a jivin' Jane, as Secretary; and Joe Wachter, a great gate, as Treasurer. Skipping all morbid details, such as school work, we then put our shoulder to the wheel, and took top honors in the Stamp Contest placing Pat Scalet and Jim Helmert, as Stamp King and Queen, which only goes to show that through loyalty we gained royalty. Our own glad lad McCann kept us well supplied with "spirits," as cheerleader representative from the Freshman Class and Pat Scalet kept all in the know about what went on in the sacred realms of our classroom by being selected as Freshman Class reporter. All of us being a little bird-brained and loving to chirp, flew into the minstrel and operetta and put another feather in our caps. Then came spring and our pin-feathers having sprouted, we passed into our Sophomore year with flying colors.

We started out our Sophomore year a bunch of dopes with high hopes, but we soon learned differently. As rulers of the room we selected Jim Helmert, as President; Gert Peak, as Vice-President; Pat Scalet, as Secretary; and Howard Wilbert as Treasurer. You've all heard of Dorothy Dix (great reporter, isn't she?), well, we had one of her greatest fans to write our news, Pat Parks. Pat also was our Sophomore cheerleader; she kept us glad when the outcome looked bad. We began to show our love for the higher things of life when we all took part in the operetta and our own Jim O'Connor Boyer captured the thieves and the audience in one night's performance without one tomato coming his way. Then come spring again and our high-school years were half over but being of strong hearts we tripped gaily over one another with the happy thought of moving upstairs and being called Juniors.

Having come to the halfway mark in our high-school careers we opened the third year little knowing what was in store for all of us. But we learned fast that it was we the Juniors who provided funds for the Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom. The officers in charge of these affairs were Bill Yoakam, President; Pat Scalet, Vice-President; Norma Valentine, Secretary; and glad lad McCann as Treasurer. We felt quite honored when Pat Parks was elected one of the associate editors on the Marianette staff and to top that ofi we had Margaret Bach; with her masterful pen to tell all our class news from beginning to end. Three of our ballerines of the basketball court, Howard Wilbert, Bill Yoakam and Jim Helmert were on the first five and being noisily inclined we were behind them all the way led by two Junior lasses, Pat Scalet and Pat Parks. The most colored event in our Junior year was the minstrel. We kept everybody captivated even the audience. Our own Caruso Yoakam and Lily Pons Scalet held two of the leads in the yearly operetta. They kept everybody on the edge of their seats with their yodeling. You've all heard of the Navy-well, they got wind that B'll Yoakam was ready, willing and near eighteen, so Bill is now sportin' the Navy blue and answers to Admirable Yoakam, All of us being a little bookwormish, just a little, mind you, we hardly noticed that spring had come again. The birds were chirpin', the bees were buzzing, and we were no longer Juniors, just the same size Seniors.

The Fall of Paris was nothing compared to the Fall of '44. This was the beginning of our last year at SMHS and feeling as old and as run down as the tires on our cars we shifted right into the first business of the year by electing class officers Jim O'Connor. as President; Gert Peak, as Vice-President; Helen Postai, as Secretary, and Pat Moore, as Treasurer. A lot was cookin' in our Senior year, for instance, the Sodality, was kept in the groove under the leadership of Jim Helmert. as Prefect, Jim O'Connor, as Vice-Prefect; Anna Francis, Secretary; Helen Postai, Treasurer. The Marianette kept all the Seniors hopping or rather jumping, especially Pat Parks, who edited this masterpiece. The co-editors of this gem (the Marian) were Pat Scalet and Margaret Bach. Our Senior class play kept everybody guessing and many wondering. Being a little simple we kept it simple. Even I could understand it. Things began to happen fast along about spring, class picnic, sneak day, May crowning, annual day, class night exercises and we all began to realize we'd spent the best years of our lives behind these brick walls, but I guess that comes with growing up. Graduation day left a lot of lumps in a lot of throats and I couldn't begin to express here our gratitude to Monsignor, to the Sisters of St. Joseph. and all our teachers. But their best assurance is the knowledge that through their guidance we were educated and graduated, and those wonderful principles which were instilled in us will live with us the rest of our lives, to make us better men and women.

OUR GENE

Farewell. dear Gene Our glorious one. Dear soldier rest, Your work is done.

You were so young, For you no fame, But you're a hero Just the same.

In a foreign land Mid battle strife, You gave for us Your dear young life.

So we'll pray for you, With prayers of love, And honor you With hosts above.

With grateful heart We'll say and mean, "Thank you, God, For boys like Gene."

BILL YOAKAM

The Class of '45 is minus a member due to Uncle Sam's bidding. Bill Yoakam came to us in the seventh grade, and was with us as we struggled through the first three years of our high school career. But since Bill realized that he would be called into the service of his country before he could complete his senior year with us, he attended summer school, earned the required credits and graduate with the Class of '44. Although he won't be here to receive his diploma with us, we still think of him as a Sophisticated Senior of '45.

Mother Beloved

Our Sodality this year has been successful under the direction of Jim Helmert, who was chosen as Prefect in September.

The Sodality of the Blessed Virgin is a religious society which has as its purpose to promote personal holiness, and help of the neighbor and the defense and spread of the Church. As our theme this year, we took "My World for Christ." By this is meant that all my activities, my work, my play, everything included in my individual world must be done for Christ, the way He Himself would do it. Six committees, under the guidance of our Moderator, Sister Berchmans, and our Prefect, Jim Helmert, carry out this theme.

AS TIME GOES BY

"Twas the fall of '41 and Frank Grimaldi's last year to grace the fair realms of "The Place." Jug, always having been a little on the journalistic side, had been dreaming of a school paper. So, in November of that year, with the help of the staff, edited the first issue of his "Happy little brain child." Ten publications followed in rapid succession to complete the first volume of "The Marianette."

The circulation of our baby, in her second year, continued to be about 150 issues per publication. Dun, Jug's yonger brother, established beachhead No. 2 in our campaign to place our paper first. Each additional edition pushed forward along the beach of success, and before the volume was completed we had enrolled in the national Quill and Scroll organization, and were proudly displaying their cut in each of our papers.

Volume three, under the capable leadership of Harvey Fikes progressed remarkably. Not only did our paper increase in size, but was further enhanced by its new cuts. The Editor and staff of 43-44 deserved congratulations as the Marianette was awarded first place honors by the National tional Quill and Scroll. (Incidently, one of the best issues of the year was number 6, that which was dedicated to those of our parish serving in the armed forces. The Marianette, today, salutes those who were not serving at that time, but have since entered.)

In September of '44, we, the present senior class, appointed the staff for our volume, which we determined would be "the best yet." We elected Pat Parks as the first feminine editor and an equally capable staff. This year our circulation has increased to 250, and each issue is sent to our alumni in service. In leaving, we are assured the Marianette is in the capable hands of the underclassmen.

"YE OLD ED."
In September of 1944, Patsy was elected to take over the duties of editor of the Marianette. The circulation has grown to 250 and the paper has been expanded in many other ways. Pat has brought a brighter, better, paper before the students of St. Mary's this year.

You were my queen in calico I was your bashful barefoot beau, You wrote on my slate, "I love you so" When we were a couple of kids.

St. Mary's High Treasures of Triumph!

Come on you Panthers, come on you Panthers, Oh-Oh-Oh! What a team!

Oh-Oh! the visiting boys will take it easy
When we beat them, don't raise a howl
Cause when we beat them, we will be the first to yell
Come on you Panthers, come on you Panthers,
Oh-Oh! what a team!!

FATHER DENNIS

Ever since May of 1944 Father Dennis looked forward to a great season of sports at St. Mary's High. In this as in many other things he has been very successful. Father's interest in us has been an inspiration and his presence at the games helped us through many tough spots.

JEROME MARSHALLINGER
Because of his many duties Father Dennis could not serve as active coach of the basketball team so Jerome Marshallinger was secured as assistant coach. Through his efforts the Panthers enjoyed a successful sea son and tied for first place in the Mineral Belt League. We are very grateful to Jerome for his efforts in our behalf.

CHEER LEADERS

They are from left to right—Patsy Scalet, Joan Catanzaro, Betty Leach, Richard Monsour. St. Mary's High School has always displayed splendid school spirit in the cheering section. This year was no exception as they helped us through our season with that usual pep. Without the cheering of the pep Club the games would have lacked interest but with enthusiastic support of the students we were urged on to victory.

Panthers of '45 tied for first place in the Mineral Belt League. This is the first Panther team to capture this honor. The cochamps, Arma and St. Mary's were upset in the semi-final play in the district tournament. The Panthers won eight games out of nine in league play and fifteen out of twenty-one for the entire season. Of the lettermen for this year six will return, leaving a fairly experienced team for next year.
